Dear Family Member:

This week we are reading Ranita, The Frog Princess, a play about a talking frog and a viceroy's son. The frog asks the viceroy's son to keep a promise in return for a favor he performs. The son promises and then rushes away without keeping it. I'm making a judgment that the son has no sense of honor.

You Be the Judge

Let's make judgments about each candidate running for president. Then we can make a poster for the candidate of our choice.

Martin

Perhaps Martin is not as rotten as he seems. After all, it's not his fault he was spoiled. He can't keep promises. He's rude and has no manners. Still, he might make a good president.

Jorge

Although he is only a street sweeper, Jorge is loyal and hardworking. He follows the orders given to him by his boss. Jorge is kind and sensible and would make a good president.

Maria

Maria is smart and clever. She knows how to make a good deal and is caring toward others. Even though she is a dog, a scruffy-looking one at that, Maria would make an excellent president.

Queridos familiares:

Esta semana estamos leyendo Ranita, The Frog Princess, una obra de teatro que trata de una rana que habla y el hijo de un virrey. La rana le pide al hijo del virrey que cumpla con algo que le promete a cambio de un favor que le hace. El hijo acepta, pero luego parte rápidamente sin cumplir su promesa. Si digo que el hijo no tiene sentido del honor, estoy haciendo un juicio.
