Dear Family Member:

I'm reading Pelican Was Hungry in class. I'm learning that we can use story clues, picture clues, and what we already know to figure out things the author doesn't say. In this story, Pelican gets excited every time he sees something to eat. But nothing he sees is okay. I think Pelican is hungry.

Queridos familiares:

Estoy leyendo Pelican Was Hungry en la clase. Estoy aprendiendo que podemos usar pistas del cuento, pistas de los dibujos y lo que ya sabemos para darnos cuenta de las cosas que el autor no dice. En este cuento, Pelican se pone contento cada vez que ve algo para comer. Pero nada de lo que ve está bien. Pienso que Pelican ya debe estar bien hambriento.
