The Beginning and the End of Things I'll say one of the words. Can you give me another word with the same beginning or ending?

Dear Family Member:

This week we're reading Skunk Scout. It's about two boys from the city who go camping with their uncle. It seems like their uncle can't do anything right. The boy telling the story is annoyed when his uncle messes up yet another situation. I'm making a judgment that the boy has a right to be annoyed. But I also think that he should have more sympathy for his uncle.

This Week's Skills

Comprehension: make judgments

Vocabulary: words with more than one meaning

Spelling/Phonics: word parts

Here Comes the Judge!

Let's read the situations and the responses to them. We can make our own judgment as to which approach and argument is better.

Trouble on the Court

A teammate keeps hogging the basketball. She cuts in front of her own teammates to snatch a ball. In your judgment, who has the better approach in confronting this player?

Rosa You probably don't realize what you're doing. I feel frustrated when the ball comes toward me and you take it away. Maybe you're just trying very hard to get us a win, but maybe you just want to be the star. Do you think that way? How do you see it?

Kathy You're hurting the team, you know. We'd be a better team if you let the rest of us play, too. That's not being a team player. We're complaining to the coach. I just want you to know that things are coming to a head.

Trouble on the Trail

Jamal and Paulo were hiking when they came to a split in the trail. Their map showed steep climbs on the Pine Trail. There were several streams to cross on the Timber Trail. Jamal wanted to follow the Pine Trail while Paulo wanted to take the Timber Trail.

Jamal I don't think the Pine Trail will be that difficult for us. We're both good climbers. We want a challenge, and we'll have great stories to tell everyone at home about how rugged we are! This will turn us into top-notch hikers.

Paulo I think the Timber Trail will be fun. We'll have logs to balance on across some streams, and stones to hop across on others. The forest isn't as thick on the Timber Trail so we'll see a lot of sunshine as we go. We'll have a nice lazy day away from the noise and crowds of the city.

El principio y el final de las cosas Voy a decir una de las palabras. ¿Puedes darme otra palabra con el mismo principio o final?

Queridos familiares:

Esta semana estamos leyendo Skunk Scout. El relato es acerca de dos niños de la ciudad que se van de campamento con su tío. Parece que su tío no puede hacer nada bien. El niño que cuenta la historia se siente molesto cuando su tío estropea una situación más. En mi opinión, el niño tiene derecho de sentirse molesto. Pero también pienso que debería tener un poco más de compasión por su tío.

Destrezas de la semana

Comprensión: hacer juicios

Chè manm fanmi :

Semèn sa a n ap li Skunk Scout. Se yon istwa konsènan de tigason ki abite lavil ki al fè kanping avèk tonton yo. Li sanble tonton yo paka fè anyen byen. Tigason k ap rakonte istwa a irite lè tonton l vin gache yon lòt sitiyasyon ankò. M ap fè yon jijman pou m di tigason an gen dwa pou l irite. Men tou mwen panse li dwe gen plis konpasyon pou tonton l.

Teknik pou semèn sa a

Konpreyansyon : fè jijman

Vokabilè : mo ki gen plis pase yon siyifikasyon
