

Home-School Connection

Word Workout

WORDS TO KNOW

alloy established obstacles privileged
 guilds manuscripts penniless scribes

Good Question Ask me a question that includes one of the words. For example: Where might I go to look at some real manuscripts from the Middle Ages? I'll answer the question to show that I understand what the word means.

SPELLING WORDS

iris solar romance psychology
 tantalize nectar geography geometry
 phobia hygiene cosmetics mania
 helicopter terrain mercury chaos
 titanic nocturnal amnesia marathon

Spelling Syllables I'll give you the first syllable of a word and you can take over from there.

Dear Family Member:

We see printed words everywhere nowadays, but once books were all made by hand. This week, we're reading Breaking Into Print, about the history of printing. The story begins long ago and passes through China and Korea to Germany. There a man named Johannes Gutenberg invented a printing press and moveable type that revolutionized the world. The author describes in detail the press and type Gutenberg created. His descriptions, along with the illustrator's pictures, make it possible to truly see what happened when words were printed on paper long ago.

This Week's Skills

Comprehension: description

Vocabulary: word parts

Spelling/Phonics: words from mythology

Name _____

(fold here)
© Macmillan/McGraw-Hill

Two Times Different

Want to create two houses? By adding different descriptive words to the story, we can make two different houses.

This house is _____ and _____. The first thing that you notice from the outside is the _____.

When you walk inside, the _____ will make you feel _____. Open the attic door and the smell of _____ will drift down to your nose.

The basement is filled with _____ and _____. The walls are _____, and the floor is _____.

However, the room that really sums up this house is the _____. In this room you will discover _____.

An advertisement to sell the house would say: _____.

This house is _____ and _____. The first thing that you notice from the outside is the _____.

When you walk inside, the _____ will make you feel _____. Open the attic door and the smell of _____ will drift down to your nose.

The basement is filled with _____ and _____. The walls are _____, and the floor is _____.

However, the room that really sums up this house is the _____. In this room you will discover _____.

An advertisement to sell the house would say: _____.

Conexión con el hogar

Ejercicio de palabras

PALABRAS DE VOCABULARIO

alloy	established	obstacles	privileged
guilds	manuscripts	penniless	scribes

Preguntas y respuestas Hazme una pregunta donde esté una de las palabras de la lista. Por ejemplo: Where might I go to look at some real manuscripts from the Middle Ages? Te daré una respuesta que demuestre que entiendo lo que significa la palabra.

PALABRAS DE ORTOGRAFÍA

iris	solar	romance	psychology
tantalize	nectar	geography	geometry
phobia	hygiene	cosmetics	mania
helicopter	terrain	mercury	chaos
titanic	nocturnal	amnesia	marathon

Sílabas iniciales Te daré la primera sílaba de una palabra, tú tendrás que terminar de deletrear la palabra a partir de esa sílaba.

Queridos familiares:

Hoy en día vemos palabras impresas en todas partes, pero en un tiempo los libros estaban hechos a mano. Esta semana estamos leyendo Breaking into Print, sobre la historia de la imprenta. Esa historia comienza hace mucho tiempo, y va de China y Corea hasta Alemania. Allí, un hombre llamado Johannes Gutenberg inventó una impresora con tipos móviles que revolucionó el mundo. El autor describe en detalle la imprenta y los tipos que creó Gutenberg. Sus descripciones, junto con las imágenes del ilustrador hacen posible que veamos lo que pasó cuando las palabras se imprimieron en papel por primera vez.

Destrezas de la semana

Comprensión: descripción

Vocabulario: partes de una palabra

Ortografía/Fonética: palabras de la mitología

Nombre _____

© Macmillan/McGraw-Hill (fold here)

Perspectivas diferentes

¿Quieres crear dos casas? Si agregamos palabras descriptivas diferentes al mismo relato, podemos crear dos casas distintas.

This house is _____ and _____. The first thing that you notice from the outside is the _____.

When you walk inside, the _____ will make you feel _____. Open the attic door and the smell of _____ will drift down to your nose.

The basement is filled with _____ and _____. The walls are _____, and the floor is _____.

However, the room that really sums up this house is the _____. In this room you will discover _____.

An advertisement to sell the house would say: _____.

This house is _____ and _____. The first thing that you notice from the outside is the _____.

When you walk inside, the _____ will make you feel _____. Open the attic door and the smell of _____ will drift down to your nose.

The basement is filled with _____ and _____. The walls are _____, and the floor is _____.

However, the room that really sums up this house is the _____. In this room you will discover _____.

An advertisement to sell the house would say: _____.